IESEG School of Management

IESEG 管理學院

<https://www.iesege.fr/en/>

IESEG is an internationally oriented and highly rigorous school with a strong commitment to social responsibility.

Over a period of 18 months, the whole IESEG community (students, academic and administrative staff, alumni, corporate representatives) took part in a deep visioning process to define what the School will be in 2025. This collaborative process was based on a thorough analysis of the School's strengths, areas for improvement, its roots and values, as well as an identification of future trends in society and higher education.

The new VISION for IESEG which emerged from this collaborative effort was:

"In 2025, IESEG will be a unique international hub empowering changemakers for a better society". The Vision that was determined for the School has provided the foundation for the development of the School's next strategic plan for 2016 – 2021.

Engineering Schools

Ecole Polytechnique

巴黎綜合理工學院

<https://www.polytechnique.edu/en>

In today's climate of fierce economic competition, innovation is the only route to prosperity. École Polytechnique trains leaders with solid backgrounds in multidisciplinary science through ample exposure to both the business and research worlds.

École Polytechnique was founded in 1794, a period marked not only by political and economic upheaval, but also by the end of the Age of Enlightenment. During this unique moment in history, the Comité de Salut Public (French Public Welfare Committee) anticipated the future applications of the myriad scientific and technical discoveries that occurred during the 18th century and triggered the Industrial Revolution. In 1804, Napoleon confirmed Polytechnique's role in serving the nation by granting École Polytechnique military status and giving the school its motto: "Pour la Patrie, les Sciences et la Gloire" ("For the Homeland, Science and Glory").

Now, at the start of the 21st century, another era characterized by geopolitical, economic and environmental difficulties as well as numerous groundbreaking technologies, École Polytechnique maintains the same philosophical core. A staunch defender of the idea that innovation is the only driving force of collective prosperity, the university is a significant contributor to promoting responsible productive, economic and scientific development.
